North America Hosts the World!

The 2024 IWA World Water Congress & Exhibition (WWCE) will take place in Toronto, Canada, from 11-15 August 2024. It will be held in the first-class facilities of the Metro Toronto Convention Centre.

This is one of the greatest global water events, and it is being hosted here in North America by your water associations such as – WWEMA, CWWA and CAWQ, with the support of WEF and AWWA. As hosts, we need to have a great presence as we welcome the world. The IWA WWCE 2024 therefore presents an opportunity like no other to profile your organization and showcase your technologies, solutions and expertise!

Which is true?

- a. North America has a lot we can show to the world
- b. North America can learn a lot from the world
- c. Maybe it's a bit of both!

What is the WWC&E?

The World Water Congress & Exhibition is the International Water Association's (IWA) premier event. This event is held every two years, but as it moves around the planet, it only comes to North America every 12 years. This is a rare opportunity to participate in such an international event without the hassles of traveling overseas. Instead, the world is coming to us!

The WWC&E brings together close to 10,000 water professionals, from utilities, governments, academia and the private sector to share knowledge on a truly global stage. The 10,000 participants include delegates, exhibitors and thousands of exhibition floor visitors. History of this event shows that while half the participants travel from over 100 countries, the other half are drawn from the host region. So you can introduce yourself to the world while catching up with your domestic market.
